Bangkok, August 8th, 2019 – The Ministry of Commerce by the Department of International Trade Promotion is ready to hold the 64th Bangkok Gems & Jewelry Fair under the theme of “Thailand’s Magic Hands: The Spirit of Jewelry Making” where the nation’s best gems and jewelry product will take the spotlight, showing the unique precious traditions blended with modern craftsmanship. This event also aims to promote Thailand as one of the key hubs for gems and jewelry trading and manufacturing in the world.

Mrs. Vannaporn Ketudat, Deputy Director-General of Department of International Trade Promotion, reveals that the gems and jewelry industry in Thailand has been key to the country’s economy for several decades, creating jobs, generating added value, and elevating creative ideas from up-and-coming designers. From January to June of 2019, export of gems and jewelry products worth a total of 7,245.63 million US dollars which grew 15.20% compared to the same period last year. Although the industry has been affected by the global economic situation and trade war from the main trading partner countries.

“The Bangkok Gems and Jewelry Fair is an important mechanism that has played a part to maintain and expand the existing and adding new markets as well as restoring the old market of Thai gem and jewelry industry, according to the policy of the Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Commerce. BGJF is an important platform to promote both large and small Thai businesses as well as Small and Medium Enterprises who are looking to export their products, carry out trade negotiations, and meet partners from Thailand and other countries. Most importantly, the fair is a great opportunity for up-and-coming jewelry designers to express their creativity and talent through unique jewelry that demonstrates to international buyers that Thailand is truly a source for quality jewelry products.”

In order the drive the promotion of Thailand’s gems and jewelry industry in overseas markets, the Department of International Trade Promotion has been organizing the “Thailand’s Magic Hands: The Spirit of Jewelry Making” campaign that showcases the uniqueness of Thailand’s gems and jewelry products that have been made by talented craftspeople and the new generation of designers with creative ideas. These characteristics have been passed on through the generations of Thailand’s tradition of jewelry crafting.

At the 64th Bangkok Gems & Jewelry Fair, over 900 exhibitors will be displaying their products and services in an area of over 1,900 booths. The DITP anticipates that over 20,000 visitors from 130 countries will be at the event.
Moreover, at the Bangkok Gems & Jewelry Fair, creative and innovative products will be on display in several exhibitions, from The Niche Showcase, where jewelry targeting niche markets are featured; The New Faces, exhibiting products from SMEs across the country; The Jewellers, highlighting products from designers who have joined the DITP’s jewelry development program; and the Innovation and Design Zone, where Thai entrepreneurs showcase exceptionally innovative products. The highlights include seminars and workshops on interesting topics, such as the penetration of gem and jewelry products, branding in the digital era, tips for the sustainable success of major jewelry brands, etc.

In addition, the total export of gems and jewelry in the first six months of 2019 (January-June) was 7,245.63 million US dollars, an increase of 15.20%. When excluded unwrought gold, valued at 3,848.72 million US dollars, decreased by -0.45%. Products that are still expanding well including gemstones (gemstones and pearls), jewelry made of precious metals, imitation jewelry. Major export markets are Hong Kong, the United States, India, Germany, Switzerland, respectively. In the year 2019, DITP has set the target of gems and jewelry export at +1%.
